

Important Information about Searching Sage

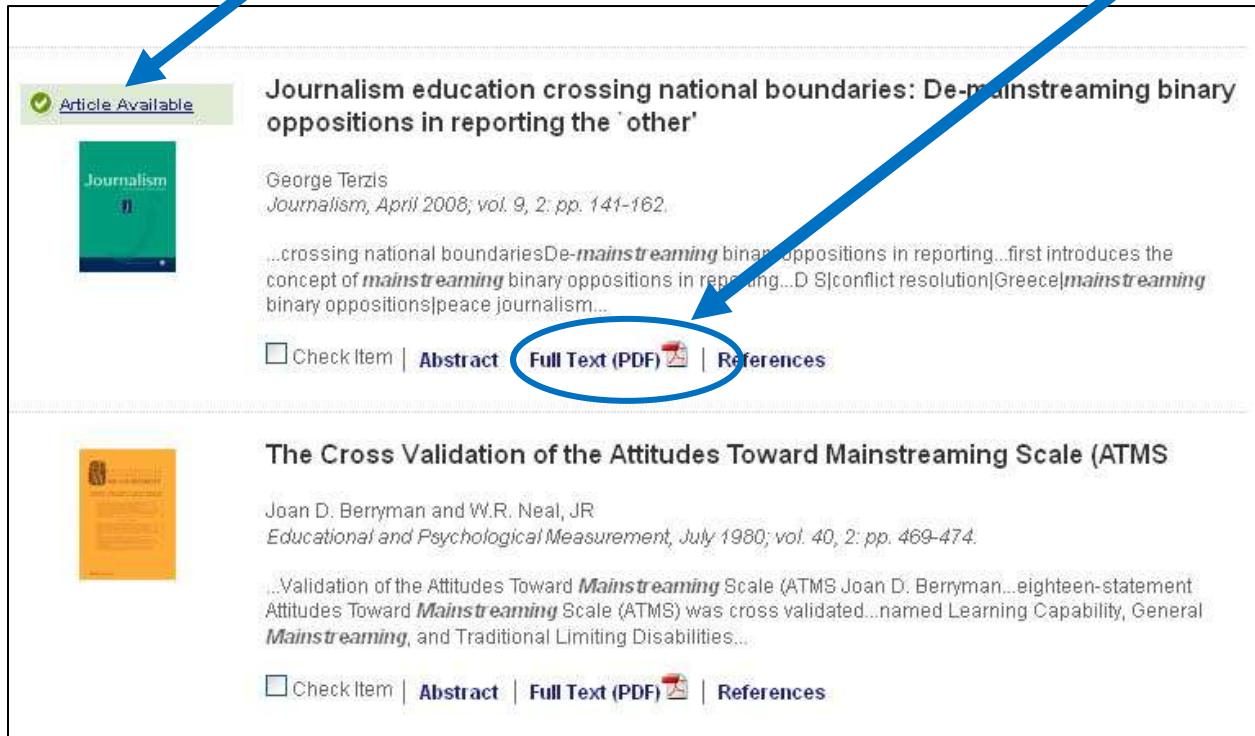

Searching the Sage database can be confusing because even though the search defaults to “sage journals available to me” this does not mean that every article listed in your results list is available in full-text at no charge.

The two citations below illustrate how to tell the difference between articles available at no cost to you and those that are not.

If the citation has this link

 Article Available

displayed in the left column then the full-text is available at no cost to you. If you want to see the full-text click on the Full-Text link below the citation.
