SPRING 2023 COURSE DESCRIPTIONS NOT FOUND IN CATALOG

Residential Undergraduate Catalog: <https://catalog.nec.edu/>

AHT 2990 Arts of Japan

From ancient times to the present day, Japanese art expresses a fascinating range of styles and emotions, from elegant scenes of poetic refinement to astounding realism and humorous caricature. This course introduces art and architecture of Japan in various media, including painting, calligraphy, ceramics, figurative sculpture, woodblock prints, anime, decorative screens, temples, gardens, and palaces. We'll discuss the spiritual traditions of Shinto and Buddhism, the arts of Zen and the tea ceremony, and explore interpretations of nature and respect for materials. We'll also discover the complex relationship between art, patronage, and power.

AR 1990 Small Metals

Students will build traditional foundation skills in 3D design while developing technical skills executing basic projects working in copper and silver. Students will develop a balance between technical ability and individual expression as they execute metal projects that may include rings, tea strainers, stonemasonry, containers or other objects.

AR 2990 Small Metals II

Students will continue to build upon traditional metalworking skills acquired in Small Metals I, while developing an expression of individual style. Projects will reinforce concepts and skills from Small Metals I to include light forging and fold forming, use of the hydraulic press, cuttlefish casting, and others

AR 2990 Sp Tp: Intaglio Printmaking

This course will be a survey of differing media that belong to the family of intaglio. The course will cover dry point, line etching, spray aquatint, soft ground, white ground, and sugar lift. Two-dimensional formal and conceptual issues, as well as multi-plate color processes, will be addressed.

AR 2990 Sp Tp: Relief in Printmaking

This course covers traditional and non-traditional methods of relief printmaking. Multiblock color printing and reduction block printing will be introduced. Emphasis will be given to the unique graphic aesthetic of the Lino block/woodblock. Two-dimensional formal and conceptual issues along with contemporary and art historical issues will be explored.

AR 3990 Painting V: Advanced Painting

This is an advanced painting course that anticipates independent responsibility within a synthesis of technical and conceptual challenges. A serious review of a student's abilities, engagement, and passion will be examined and integrated in the pursuit of highly authoritative personal expression.

AR 3990 Sp Tp: Collaboration in Pract

"Collaboration" is a widely used term and suggested theme in today's artistic culture. What does "collaboration" actually mean? What does it look like? Students will unpack this concept and explore the breadth of how collaboration has manifested into cultural and creative practices. We will focus on the voices of and dynamics between collaborators, whether people, entities, processes, or materials. Emphasis will also center around the structure of collaboration and the challenges of leveraging creative tension. Students will consider and design collaborative projects and create work accordingly. Fulfills Interdisciplinary Seminar (7 weeks; 2 credits)

AR 3990 Sp Tp: Color Theory

This course serves as an introduction to the digital tools and mediums available for various applications in design and art. Specific tools will be explored through hand-on tutorials and exercises that will cover a wide range of concepts and techniques. A variety of artworks and artist that utilize digital mediums will also be introduced.

AR 3990 Sp Tp: Community Mural Art

Mural painting is a historic and time-honored context for artists to convey ideas and imagery to a wide audience- creating images on a large scale, in a public location, and for a relatively larger public. The course will engage students in the entire process of approaching and working with public and private clients who are sponsoring or commissioning hypothetical, and when possible, actual murals for the class to execute. Students will develop proposals and scale models to be submitted to clients for review and approval, and will practice the processes and skills involved in the execution of approved commissions.

AR 3990 Sp Tp: Experiment in Practice

This is a moment to consider the integral role experimentation serves in an artistic practice. This class will investigate the scope of what "experimentation" might look like in our creative paths as we look at historical and contemporary modes, including the interdisciplinary approach of Black Mountain College and the progressive restaurant El Bulli. Students will begin to consider their own relationship with experimentation and how they might structure and embed experimentation into their process to enhance their work and refine their creative process. Fulfills Interdisciplinary Seminar (7 weeks; 2 credits)

AR 3990 Sp Tp: Historical Methods: Pai

This course will focus on historical drawing and painting tools, methods, and techniques. This is a hands-on course introducing topics including stretching a canvas, wood panel preparation, traditional gesso, dry pigments and binders, traditional mediums and discussion to archival methods and restoration.

ILL 3990 Community Studio

Community Studio gives students the opportunity to work with local businesses and organizations to create compelling solutions to real world illustration assignments. Students will be required to complete a series of individual and group projects.

Most assignments will have the possibility of a financial award for pieces chosen for printed public use. This course gives students the experience of working successfully with professional clients. Standard business practices will be a primary focus of this course along with the continued development of a personal voice.

ILL 3990 Sp Tp: Adv Business of Illust

Advanced Business of Illustration covers the standard business practices utilized by professionals working in the field of illustration. In this course students will learn different approaches to marketing their work through mailed printed samples and social media channels. Ample focus will be placed on the development of each student's web presence. The development of a professional, market-ready website will be encouraged. Students will learn about standard contracts, invoicing practices, and pricing guidelines. This course is highly recommended for all senior illustration majors.

ILL 3990 ST: Digital Illustration II

Digital Illustration II will concentrate on the use of Photoshop in the creation of basic illustration assignments. Instructor will guide students through the process of concept, producing thumbnails, research, photography and composition to go along with the introduction of digital painting techniques to execute assignments. Students will gain an understanding on how to use many of Photoshop's tools, along with how to properly create files, layers, and use of filters. Quick commands will also be highlighted to improve working efficiency. Prerequisite: ILL2040 (204)

PHO 3990 Sp Tp: The Photobook

The photography book has been an essential tool for photographers since the invention of photography itself. For many photographers, the photo book is a significant vehicle for the display of their work and the communication of their vision to a mass audience. This class will explore the ways in which one can make a photo book through historical and contemporary applications. Students will learn techniques for creating photography books including the editing process, sequencing, design, and layout. Students will be asked to create bodies of work that they can then use these skills to design their own books. Students will be asked to use special collections and other resources to research and comprehend different styles and movements that have shaped the history of the photo book. Each student will create books using an on-demand print house as well as handmade processes.
