

Affidavit of Support for F-1 Students

U.S. Immigration regulations require that F-1 students provide financial documentation showing sufficient funds to cover study and living expenses while residing in the United States. See below for details on the Proof of Financial Ability requirement.

Applicants must provide current bank statement(s) showing sufficient funds to cover tuition and living expenses as indicated in your Admission materials. If a sponsor is providing their financial statement to support an applicant's study and living expenses, an affidavit of support must also be provided. Complete this Affidavit of Support form and sign below.

As the sponsor of the student mentioned below, I take full financial responsibility for all tuition, fees, and living costs incurred while he/she studies at New England College.
